Eyery Item Opposed on Frivolous Grounds—The Bill Passes.

[By Angle-American cable to the Dispatch.]

London, March 25.—Throughout the sitting of the House of Commons has evening Mr. Hambury, assisted by William Broderick, Conservative member for the Guiltord Division of Surrey, and George Bartley, Conservative member for North Islington, objected to every item of the army estimates on purely frivolous grounds. All the clauses were carried, however, under the application of closure. In all there were twelve divisions, the minorities gradually decreasing until the opposition could rally only forty votes. Every attempt to adjourn the debate before the passage of the bill was uncompromisingly resisted by Sir William Harcourt.

reception on the streets and at two public meetings he attended has been like what might be accorded a great servant of the state. Within a few hours after the complete collapse in the Reichstag of his charges against Prince Bismarck and other well-known personages Ahlwardt repeated and enlarged upon them at a meeting held at Spandau. The meeting was very largely attended by workingmen, many of whom came from the royal factories. A large number of these men were not of the stamp whose ignorance might excuse them, yet they are blind supporters of the vulgar demagogue.

A Popular Ovation to His Majesty—The Italian Dynamite Campaign—GeneNotes from Abroad.

[By Angio-American cable to the Dispatch.]
Rowr, March 25.—The city is in a state of great excitement over an assault made this evening on King Humbert. The King was returning from the Villa Borghese, where he had been spending a portion of the day, when a person, having the general appearance of an Italian workingman, striking his Majesty. There was a considerable number of people in the streets at the time, it being about 5 o'clock in the evening, and several persons rushed upon the assailant and seized him before he had a channe to make another attempt at violence.

The assailant was promptly taken in hand by the police and conveved to prison. Otherwise, he would in all probability have been killed by the angry mulaitue. An immense crowd assembled and obserted the King with frantise enthumasm, and all the way to the ralance the scene was like a triumphal progress. King Humbert gracefully acknowledged the ovation, and was evidently deeply moved by the evidence of loyalty on the part of his subjects.

A RELIGIOUS FANATIC.

The assailant of King Humbert is, it appears the first the party platform. Twenty-six members of the party are back of a bill with the party platform. The three weeks' Easter recess of the Reichstag and Landtag is generally passed in absolute quiet. This year the recess sees the transference of political activity to political platforms. The imminence of dissolution sends most of the members to face their constituents. The central committees of the Socialists and the National Liberals have methere and descussed the prospects, the Socialists exultantly and the National Liberals despondently. Dr. von Benneysen warned the National Liberals that the elections could not be fought by them on a mere platform of the acceptance or rejection of the army bill. He deplored the want of unity in the party and complained that addresses coming from National-Liberal districts declaring in support of the bill had helped to defeat the arrangement of any compromise with the government. Finally, the meeting decided to leave the method of conducting the electoral canvassos to individual initiative.

The appointment of Archduke Renier to officially represent Emperor Francis Joseph at the coming silver wedding of King Humbert, of Italy, is halled here as a veritable traininh of the Quirinal over the Vatican. The Archduke is the uncle of King Humbert and anght attend the felex without his presence being considered a political event. Sent as the representative to the Emperor of Austra, however, his without his presence being considered a political event. Sent as the representative of the Emperor of Austria, however, his visit may be premain with consequences. The Italian covernment will consider it as a definite Austrian recognition that Rome is the capital of Italy, and Italy will now have the right to expect Emperor Francis Joseph to visit the Quirinal.

The reasons for this blow to the Vatican are found in the Pope's pre-French policy and Cardinal Rampolia's uncompromising attitude on the Hungarian Kulturkampf.

These teas, on account of their simplicity and genume enjoyment, are increasing in numbers. One is always at a loss for something to do at that hour in the afternoon and an hour spent with one's friends, and with one's maie friends at that, is sure to be pleasant, not to say profitable.

Some girls have had Sundays engraved on their cards as their day at home. But this is, of course, very bad form, and I think is only a fael of the moment, which will die a natural death. No function with which there is the suchtest formality attached should be held on Sunday, but for the informal entertaining of one's initiant friends it is just the day to be selected.

Many persons give dinners on Sunday. A small dinner is all well enough; but a large dinner party—no. High teas, which are nothing more nor less than suppers, are also much in vogue, and those of Bohemian tastes have regular informal Sunday, night pesses but this fair tufficularly traceptions.
